Caring Community

I recently watched Jane Pauley (CBS Sunday Morning) interview Michael J. Fox. As we all know, Michael has valiantly and publicly fought Parkinson's Disease for over thirty years. Even as the disease wreaks havoc on his body and life, he maintains an incredible outlook and can even find humor in its challenges. When asked by Miss Pauley how he does this, he replied – “With gratitude, optimism is sustainable.”

Programs for those with Parkinson's Disease and their faithful, enduring caregivers have long been part of Rappahannock Westminister-Canterbury and Foundation endeavors. These programs, faithfully and mightily championed by Rita DePew and her late husband Jay, provide essential information, support, and encouragement for residents and community participants who are among the most thankful people.

Similarly, the determination of a grassroots group of residents who established the Healthcare Education and Support Endowment fund originates with gratitude for present and future caregivers and the optimism to support and encourage healthcare education and career paths.

As always, our Fellowship Program provides optimism for those experiencing financial situations beyond their control who do not have to worry about their residency at Rappahannock Westminister-Canterbury.

A Caring Community is grateful, and through that gratitude it sustains optimism. We are grateful for the Caring Community of generous benefactors of the RWC Foundation this and every year. Your faithful gifts of treasure, time, and talent demonstrate care and inspire optimism in many, many ways. The pages of this report invite you to see the fruit of your caring generosity on smiling faces, encouraged hearts, and warmed spirits. May our gratitude encourage and sustain your optimism and continued care and support for the present and future beneficiaries and the mission of the Foundation and RWC.

In gratitude,

Stuart Bunting
President & CEO

Caring Community – Parkinson's Support Programs

A RWC program that has enhanced the Northern Neck and surrounding areas for over 20 years is our Parkinson's Support Group. The idea for the Parkinson's Support group was initiated by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Morris. The late Mr. Morris suffered from the disease. He and his wife worked with RWC staff to develop the program. Over the years it has flourished with the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Jay DePew. During this time the program expanded to include Care Partner support, the Fit to Move exercise classes, and a therapy department that is certified in LSVT BIG.

What is Parkinson's Disease? Parkinson's Disease is a lifelong progressive disease that is thought to be caused by the lack of the chemical dopamine in the brain. Some of the symptoms of Parkinson's disease are tremor, muscular rigidity, and slow movement. These symptoms along with other challenges that arise can be difficult for daily life and relationships. Each person's journey with the disease is unique. One may not display the same set of symptoms as another. However, the Parkinson's Support Group and Care Partners Group contain loving, caring individuals who are sharing similar experiences that have an empathetic and understanding perspective. They provide a unique service to the Northern Neck area. Otherwise those suffering from Parkinson's and their caregivers would have to travel to a metropolitan area to receive the services that are provided. Ellie Davies states,

"[My husband and I] became involved with the Parkinson's Support Group and Care Partners Group which met once a month. These programs provided a place where one could share personal experiences and [be] offered emotional support and encouragement. We learned from one another how to handle certain situations and become more efficient in coping with the challenges that one faces as the disease progresses. It did not take long to build special friendships who helped us every step along the way. We knew we were not alone; we had a support system that prevented social isolation and gave us a sense of belonging."

Another resident also echoed,

"[At RWC] you are in a community that understands what you are going through and provides the support and tools to navigate your journey with the disease. RWC is unique in the services that it provides to this area and should be at the top of the list for anyone who suffers with Parkinson's Disease... the nursing staff here is very loving and takes wonderful care of meeting your needs..."

One of the therapies which help to manage daily life with the disease is the drug called Levodopa Carbidopa, but lifestyle changes like exercise and proper diet enable individuals to live a greater quality of life as long as possible. RWC established the Fit to Move class which is available for community members and residents alike. One resident states,

"My husband, joined the exercise program for those with Parkinson's at RWC. ... Exercise is important to maintain strength, flexibility, balance and slow down the disease. The Fit to Move Class meets three times a week."

Mr. Bob Calves, a regular attendee of the Fit to Move class, touts that the class has allowed him to maintain reasonably good health. He says that the instructors in the class are very effective, and the classes have benefited him since he first started taking them. RWC's Fit to Move classes are free to the community at large and pre-pandemic had mostly non-resident members. The love, support, and friendship that has developed through the Parkinson's program have been a reason that some people have become residents of RWC.

"It did not take long to see that we had all we needed right here in the Northern Neck. We did not have to deal with traffic during rush hour and the fast pace of living in a city... As my husband's disease progressed, he moved into the Health Care at RWC and remained until his death three years later. The Parkinson's Support Group and Care Partners Group were there for us."

RWC's Parkinson's Support Group, Care Partners Group and Fit to Move Classes have been a caring community where community members can find strength and hope in a difficult time in life. If you are interested in participating in the Parkinson's Support Group or the Care Partners group contact Sarah Wilkins at 804-438-4000.

The Birdsong House

The newest addition to RWC's continuum of care, our memory care unit, has had a name change! The Small House will now be called the Birdsong House in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Birdsong, III, and the Birdsong Peanuts Charitable Foundation. The Birdsong House is a direct result of the generosity of the Birdsongs. The Birdsong House contains a home-like environment with 8 individual rooms with private baths for community members or current residents who are experiencing mild to moderate Dementia. Current residents who have loved ones living in the Birdsong House are reassured by the wonderful care that their loved one is being provided and how content their loved one is living there. One resident states:

"The experience has been exceptional. The people working there are not just good, they have been unique. Frankly I don't know how they do it. I have observed how the care is tailored individually. And it works so well. It takes very special people to be able to provide this level of care.

'The facility is very much "home like" and that has made all the difference to my wife. The comfort level has been great for her, it's made all the difference. And, for me and the family as well.

'I'm so pleased with what we've been able to achieve.'

If you are looking for a person-centered memory care for your loved one please contact, Lauren White at lwhite@rw-c.org or call 804-438-4010 or Sara Amiss at samiss@rw-c.org or call 804-438-4346.

LEC Hobby Shop

The Life Enrichment Center was designed to enhance the lives of RWC residents through Art, Activities, and Physical Fitness. When the Life Enrichment Center was planned a woodworking shop was an integral part of the design. As residents moved here, they were looking for space to work with their hands and find great satisfaction. Dr. Alexander McKelway and Dr. Hanspeter Muller donated tools to create the Hobby Shop that we have today. One of the residents who uses the Hobby Shop frequently is Mr. Donald Stone.

Mr. Stone is one of those talented people who can do wonders with his hands. He uses his hobby of woodworking to restore, fix, and improve wooden items for no charge. He is very detailed and excellent in how he uses his gift and most of all it brings him great satisfaction. Some of the recipients of his work exclaim”

“Don Stone is a jewel. An antique tea cart that had been stored in our attic for the past 21 years was battered and broken. The tea cart was bought by Bill’s mother in 1935 from an antique shop in Staunton, Va. Don took it apart, rebuilt some parts and refinished it. It is absolutely beautiful and we are grateful for his workmanship and attention to detail.”

– Brandon Louisell

“Don did a fabulous expert job on repairing an antique chair and it turned out beautifully. He is a master wood worker. Glad he is here with us at RWC!!”

– Marie Carstensen

“Mr. Stone is so generous with his time and sharing his art of perfection when it comes to restoring wooden furniture. He has restored and extended the life of numerous items used by RWC. Some examples include refinishing the tables and tightening chairs used in the Nurses Lounge and regluing and refinishing chairs used in Main Street station. His patience is remarkable when it comes to carefully disassembling and numbering pieces and then sanding, gluing, reassembling and refinishing furniture. He has breathed new life into many old pieces that are now better than new and saved from being discarded.”– Phillip Williams

Mr. Stone’s work brings happiness to those who receive it and lengthens the use of items that would not have lasted without his intervention. Donate to the LEC Hobby Shop to support the meaningful work that Mr. Stone does every day as part of RWC’s Caring Community.
